

Call for Participation: Research Design and Practice in Global Japanese Studies

With a focus on globalization in Japan and transnational processes in the East/South-East Asian region, while also open to other global regional foci, the course will include a series of lectures by leading scholars in Japan Studies and Global Studies. Students will present their research projects to this community of scholars and receive comments and guidance on how to develop transnational methodologies and modes of analysis.

Course Schedule

Date: September 26 (Mon.) ~ 30 (Fri.), 2016

(Note: On a voluntary basis, a series of excursions to leading international research institutes in metropolitan Tokyo will be conducted in the week prior to the course.)

Location: Hongo Campus, the University of Tokyo (Room to be announced)

How to Apply

For those who wish to join this course, please submit the application via email, titled “Application for Research Design and Practice in Global Japanese Studies” with attached application document, to the email address [project4\[at\]ihs.c.u-tokyo.ac.jp](mailto:project4@ihs.c.u-tokyo.ac.jp) by July 10 (Sun.)

Application document should include the following 4 items.

- 1) The title of your MA or PhD research project
- 2) An Abstract (1 page) or a full research proposal of your planned MA or PhD thesis
- 3) A short biographical note
- 4) Name of your official supervisor (if already decided)

Contact Information

[project4\[at\]ihs.c.u-tokyo.ac.jp](mailto:project4@ihs.c.u-tokyo.ac.jp)